WHAT THEY ARE DOING.

Politics-In the Old State Capitol, the Georgia House of Representatives is over by a Train-A Quorum. A Shot-The Cyclone's Path.

Correspondence of The Constitution.
DALTON, April 1.—Whitfield county is in a good condition financially. It is out of debt and has a surplus in the treasury. This speaks well for our county, and especially for the officials. The United States government has established a social service office at this place; it is in connection with the general telegraph office. Misfortune befel two Dalton fishermen yesterday. Messrs. Willie Smith and Howard A. Lowry, at Tilton. They engaged a boat to fish on the river in. While fishing they got into the current of the stream and were swept over a mill dam. They escaped injury but the boat did not; it got smashed. They had to borrow money to pay for it, before they could return home. Unfortunately all the trout they caught got lost also. Mrs. Jim Ford died at her home near this city Friday morning aged 52 years. She was one of our oldest citizens. Her husband died on the Western and Atlantic railroad run off at a switch in the yard at this place to-day. A few moments' delay was all the damage done to the train. Mr. H. H. Tibbs caught 22 fine trout yesterday with a hook in Conasauga river. He understands how to catch them. Dalton has three of the finest churches of its size in the South. They still improve. Miss Mattie A. Lowry has returned home from a pleasant visit to Rome, Ga. Mrs. J. Q. A. Lewis is on a visit to Rome, Ga. A wedding in high life is soon to come off in this place, so knowing ones say. Picnics are spoken of and will soon be the order of the day. Miss Mary McCallie returned yesterday from a pleasant visit to Cartersville, Ga. Several amusing jokes were played up on the unsuspecting individuals to-day, as this is "all fool's day." Trade is improving with the good weather.

IN THE OLD CAPITAL.
MILLEDGEVILLE, March 31.—The lower edge of our county was barely touched by the recent cyclone. It et pine straw, pine bark, etc., were dropped in our side from the scene of the storm. Our farmers are considerably damaged by the heavy rains. Wheat and oats are unusually fine and fully twice the usual area are sown in this grain. Mrs. Guy McKinley, nee Miss Gochkins, of Columbus, died yesterday, after a protracted illness, leaving two children, one a babe about six weeks old. Mr. P. P. Stubbs, of Hancock county, is in the city visiting relatives and friends here, and in Midway. She is the last survivor of the twenty-two persons who, under Dr. Joseph Stiles, as pastor, in August, 1820, organized the Presbyterian church in this city. She is the mother-in-law of Dr. W. A. Pratt, of your city, and the grand mother of Sam Jameson, of Macon. Miss Alice, second daughter of Prof. R. T. Hunter, is visiting friends and relatives here. I have noticed quite a number of communists in the city lately; among them, several from Atlanta. The outlook for the spring and summer trade is rather gloomy, and our dry goods merchants are laying in as large a stock as usual. The stock law was defeated in two of our militia districts last week.

STORM SUPPLIES.
EPAULIA, March 31, 1932.—Further intelligence from the storm district in this county shows that the news thus far is not exaggerated. Miss Polly Richards, who received severe injuries in the disaster, has since died. A curious incident—a large ox belonging to Hon. J. S. Egan, was taken up by the wind and hurled some distance through the air, and finally thrown into a well. The night was very black, save as illuminated by the almost constant flashing of sheet lightning and about midnight when this storm struck its victims they were all asleep with their families. Suddenly and in almost an instant the work was done, property ruined, houses destroyed, and lives lost in a breath. Scattered families, hurled from their beds and sleep by the fury of the storm, under the pelting of a pitiless rain, looked to the sky in amazement and bewilderment about in the wreck of their homes and calling aloud for the missing ones, makes a sad picture. The neighbors of the sufferers have done and are still doing everything possible to relieve them. Epaulia held a public meeting yesterday afternoon to raise funds for their help. About $500 was raised and the subscription list is still open. The weather is very fine now, as if in apology for its recent bad behavior, and farmers are pushing their business.

APPAINTS IN ROSWELL.
ROSWELL, March 31.—Mrs. A. J. Hansell and daughter, Mrs. Ketter, of Atlanta, were out riding this afternoon, and as the buggy came too near the ditch upon side of road, Mrs. Ketter lost her balance and fell from the buggy between the wheels. Mrs. Ketter fell over her arm and face, inflicting several quite painful bruises; about this time the horse took fright and ran, throwing Mrs. Hansell out of the saddle. The criminal louse escape, receiving only a few bruises. The horse continued to run until he had succeeded in making a complete wreck of the buggy. Mrs. J. L. Wingo, who is a long illness, died this morning. She was a most estimable lady, and highly regarded by a large circle of relatives and friends. She leaves several children among them a son, Mr. J. W. Wingo, of Atlanta, in business with Mr. F. E. Block. The measles have given us quite a siege. At one time there was as many as forty cases, but at present has abated somewhat. About 700 tons guano will be sold here this season—quite an increase over last. Mrs. W. E. Baker, of Staunton, Va., is a visitor here. Her mother, Mrs. C. King, of Miss Eva King has returned to her home in Marshallville. Dr. Robinson, of Atlanta, will fill the Presbyterian pulpit for the ensuing year.

NO MORTAL WOUNDS.
Special Correspondence of The Constitution.
NEWNAS, March 31.—Society Justice W. H. Brooks and Sanders were arrested, and charged with stealing $250 from an old man named Wootman, living about eight miles from Newnan. They were committed to the last term of the superior court, indicted for the offense of larceny from the house. It is said that a witness who saw the two men going in the direction of Wootman's house, so successfully kept back that the prosecution has been unable to ascertain who it was. On yesterday Brooks, Ke Bangston, H. Ke Bangston and Young Bangston left town together. All were drinking. Ke Bangston was charged with trying to bring forward the unknown witness. The quarrel ensued and the fight followed. One old man in the crowd ran Bangston and son were each shot in the hand by Brooks. A Mr. Norris, who came up during the fight to act as peace-maker, was during the breast, and as soon as he recovered from the shock he knocked Brooks down, and gave him heavy licks until he cried enough. No mortal wounds.

SOME PEOPLE AND POLITICS.
Special Correspondence of The Constitution.
ROME, Ga., April 1.—Work has been commenced on the new ice factory, and it is rapidly pushed. The criminal case of the system will be taken up in Floyd superior court next week. It is expected that two weeks will be expected to clear the docket. The agitation regarding the Rome peddlers has not abated. It is generally understood that the charges against the present incumbent, Major J. B. Hargrove, have been triumphantly refuted. The major will continue to fill the office with satisfaction to the people. The Young Men's library association will receive two hundred new books in a few days. Hon. Neaborn Wright and lady arrived last night after a six weeks' tour of Florida. A series of revival meetings are being held in the Baptist church. A good deal of interest is manifested.

IN CARTERSVILLE.

THE LARGEST IRON ORE DEPOSIT IN THE SOUTH.

The Marvellous Mineral Richness Near Cartersville—The Model Georgia Road of the Georgia State—The Georgia State—Colonel Jones's Carriage Factory.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., March 31, 1932.—Nearly all the little cities along the state road are rubbing their eyes as if just emerging from a long snoring expedition. I dropped in on Cartersville to-day and find the place looking up and determined to brush aside all feelings of laziness and blaze away with real true courage at the task of making her domains bristle with those industries that are fast making Georgia a puzzle to her sister states. Cartersville is the largest iron ore deposit in the southern states. Every day the cars move away from here with five hundred loads worth of the precious stuff, or about $300,000 worth. Said a gentleman yesterday, well known to me and to Georgia, "Around this town are imbedded the largest manganese interests in America. Every foot of soil is rich in deposits of iron ore, pig metal and manganese, and I firmly believe these hills contain the largest deposits in the country."

THE PROJECTED RAILROAD PROJECT.
The projected railroads that are now being so rapidly pushed from this point will make Cartersville a great industrial center. The most important mineral and lumber points, not only in Georgia, but in the South. The North Georgia and Ducktown railroad will be the first to be completed. It will run from here to Cassawadee river, thence via Ducktown, probably to Marysville, Tenn., making connection to Knoxville. It passes through the world famous gold, silver, iron, copper, manganese and other ore being found along the route in quantities valuable enough to enrich a king. It is a "valley line" and the ore found along its line yields as high as 80 per cent of pure metallic iron, the equal of Lake Superior or Junata iron or Pennsylvania. THE CYCLONE IN LEBESBURG.
LEBESBURG, March 31.—The recent cyclone that passed near Smithville is estimated to have destroyed about $5,000 worth of property. Captain J. H. Allen alone lost between $1,200 and $1,500. The people in the neighborhood have been engaged in upraising fences, houses, etc. Cotton planting is progressing satisfactorily in this community.

THE DALTON POST-OFFICE.
Colonel B. H. Lanier, of the post office department in the city for a few days past looking into the general management of the Dalton post-office, and having given special notice to several alleged complainants to appear before him, he received from them a testimonial as induced their complaints. An Argus reporter called yesterday at the Exchange hotel, where the investigation was in progress, and was told that the post office was of interest to the public.

IT APPEARS THAT about a year ago L. D. Campbell, of Dalton, Tennessee, son-in-law of Mr. L. M. Lowry, of this place, was induced to make application for the post-office, under the impression that Riley's report would only be a matter of effort, and as appeared from the evidence, the fight was royally commenced from every standpoint; the principal charges, however, emanating from the minds of some of Mr. Campbell's over-zealous friends, who were non-residents, some of them living in Tennessee, and those who did not had returned statements that they had, neither in the past or present, any complaints to make against the management of the office in any way. Two complaints only were sustained against Mr. Grant, as delivery clerk, who retired from the office about the time they were made.

FIGHTING A FRAME.
From the Hartwell Sun.
Late one night this week two squires came out of a barn-yard. Some one who was on observation in a loud tone. Squire No. 1 thought he was addressed and exclaimed, "You're a liar!" and collapsed, as he thought, the man, who was still out of the frame. The fight was royally commenced from every standpoint; the principal charges, however, emanating from the minds of some of Mr. Campbell's over-zealous friends, who were non-residents, some of them living in Tennessee, and those who did not had returned statements that they had, neither in the past or present, any complaints to make against the management of the office in any way. NEW WAY TO COLLECT DEBTS.
From the Cartersville Appeal.
An amusing incident occurred upon the square yesterday. About noon a negro, called by the name of Madison George, said to be an honest and industrious farmer, hired a negro boy a week ago for one month, and at the end of the first day the hired boy proposed to buy a pair of Madison's pants. The price was readily agreed upon, when the boy crawled into Madison's pants and soon departed. Not until yesterday did the man, when Madison drew his knife and said his breeches could not cover as mean a negro as was then rolled up in them, and commenced ripping them off. In a few minutes he had the pants ripped from the waistband to the heels, and the boy left breechesless upon the street. At this moment the marshal appeared and called the boy to the calaboose, and smacked his chops over the prospect of a tub of meal. It was a laughable affair throughout, and a novel way to collect a bad debt.

AN UNPLEASANT SURPRISE.
From the Savannah News.
Yesterday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, a rather amusing accident occurred at the intersection of Whitaker and St. Julien streets, which fortunately was attended with no serious results. Mr. Baer was driving a wagon on which were a number of kegs of oysters brought from Thunderbolt for Messrs. Savaree & Bro. and on crossing Whitaker street, his wagon, with its establishment the king-bolt of his vehicle gave way and his horse calmly walked off with the front wheels. Mr. Baer held on to the reins, and being pulled from his seat dropped suddenly and in the most comical manner plump on the ground. He was considerably jarred and slightly bruised, but otherwise escaped injury. The dropping of the front part of the wagon, however, caused the oysters to bounce out of the kegs and they went on a regular circus, as it were, along the bottom of the vehicle.

the Atlanta carriage man. The two men are brothers, but their interests are not the same. Colonel Jones very kindly carried us through his factory, which covers an entire square, and is stocked with the finest vehicles known to the trade, together with a supply of carriage builders' materials owned by any one concerned in Georgia.

"What amount of capital have you here, Colonel?" I asked when we were at last seated in the office, after the tour of inspection was over.

"Here and in Rome my interests are worth about $50,000. I have a branch of my business in Rome, which is almost as large as this."

"What amount of business do you carry on here annually?"

"About $50,000, I think. Yes, fully that much."

"How many vehicles do you turn out?"

"I have been invariably asked to the principle of demanding good prices for good work, and find it has not only paid the buyer, but has also, been to my own advantage. Now, I can sell buggies from $150 up to $300, or higher, at the same time."

"Do you make fine carriages?"

"There is one out there now, a six-seater, that is being built, which is worth $500, when finished. There's another fine carriage on wheels, which is worth $1,000, when finished. By the way, Mr. Chamberlain, all the way to New York to buy a carriage, but came back and said my work was cheaper and time as well as could get north. Orders are constantly coming in from other cities for my vehicles, which shows just how thoroughly adapted they really are."

"Are your profits good?"

"That isn't a fair question, but I'll answer it by saying that I now contemplate rebuilding these present buildings on a larger and larger scale, making them in nearly irreproachable as possible. Yes, the business yields a very nice revenue, and I am satisfied with it."

"About how many and the same number in Rome. I sell more vehicles, probably, in Rome than I do here. By the way, I have a way of getting around the tax on railroads. They charged me such exorbitant rates that I built a HUGE ROAD CAR of my own, and I send all my fine carriages and buggies to Rome. The distance is only twenty-five miles, and I save about eighteen dollars each trip."

Colonel Jones made himself quite famous last year at the national carriage makers' convention, which met in Cincinnati. The subject of apprentices was before the convention, and several speeches were made by the carriage men against apprenticing boys to learn the business. Colonel Jones, who is a fine speaker, and a man of unusual ability, arose during the discussion and delivered such a speech in favor of the poor apprentice boy that when he sat down men crowded around him and offered their congratulations by the dozens.

Cartersville, socially, is a delightful little place, and I know of no town of its size with pleasanter or more cordial people. The population is about 1,000, and it is gradually growing larger. Since the census of 1880, it is estimated that the population has increased fully 150 per cent or about 500 people. It is a most rapid growth, but it goes to show what the city is doing.

There is a regularly uniform police, a hook and ladder company, and a public health department. The city is a most desirable place to live in. It is one of the prettiest little towns in the country, and is fitted up with a fine set of scenery. The best companies give them a most desirable place to live in. THE CAT AND THE MOCKING BIRD.

FROM THE SOUTHERN REPUBLICAN.

On Sunday last we witnessed a singular contest between a mocking bird and a cat. When first observed the bird was on the ground, about three feet from the cat, singing a shrill, triumphant melody, that held its enemy entranced. The bird had come under the mesmeric influence of the cat and could not get away, and the cat charmed by the melody of the bird could not eat it. Several times it would crouch, give its tail a switching motion and prepare to spring, but the bird would approach, warbling in a milder strain, and puss would rub her head against it, purring in that manner so peculiar to these animals when pleased. We watched to see how this novel contest would end, and even tried to succeed in scaring the bird away and put it up in her mouth, ran off a short distance, put it upon the ground and let the little creature sing, seeming perfectly content with its music. We again approached, took the cat up in her mouth, ran off a short distance, put it upon the ground and let the little creature sing, seeming perfectly content with its music. The subject of apprentices was before the convention, and several speeches were made by the carriage men against apprenticing boys to learn the business. Colonel Jones, who is a fine speaker, and a man of unusual ability, arose during the discussion and delivered such a speech in favor of the poor apprentice boy that when he sat down men crowded around him and offered their congratulations by the dozens.

Cartersville, socially, is a delightful little place, and I know of no town of its size with pleasanter or more cordial people. The population is about 1,000, and it is gradually growing larger. Since the census of 1880, it is estimated that the population has increased fully 150 per cent or about 500 people. It is a most rapid growth, but it goes to show what the city is doing.

There is a regularly uniform police, a hook and ladder company, and a public health department. The city is a most desirable place to live in. It is one of the prettiest little towns in the country, and is fitted up with a fine set of scenery. The best companies give them a most desirable place to live in. It is a most rapid growth, but it goes to show what the city is doing.

Another of the growing industries of Cartersville is Ladd's line works, a short distance from the town. It is a most rapid growth, but it goes to show what the city is doing.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

FROM THE SOUTHERN REPUBLICAN.

On Sunday last we witnessed a singular contest between a mocking bird and a cat. When first observed the bird was on the ground, about three feet from the cat, singing a shrill, triumphant melody, that held its enemy entranced. The bird had come under the mesmeric influence of the cat and could not get away, and the cat charmed by the melody of the bird could not eat it. Several times it would crouch, give its tail a switching motion and prepare to spring, but the bird would approach, warbling in a milder strain, and puss would rub her head against it, purring in that manner so peculiar to these animals when pleased. We watched to see how this novel contest would end, and even tried to succeed in scaring the bird away and put it up in her mouth, ran off a short distance, put it upon the ground and let the little creature sing, seeming perfectly content with its music. We again approached, took the cat up in her mouth, ran off a short distance, put it upon the ground and let

Fulton County Sunday-School Association.
The above association starts upon its fourteenth year's service under the most favorable auspices and with the most flattering prospects. The new board of officers just elected embrace some of the most experienced and efficient workers in the county, and with the Hon. John H. James at their head a good year's work may be expected. The officers will be installed soon and will enter at once upon a most active and aggressive campaign, and we look for the best results.
We understand that Jack, 43 Peachtree street, will, during the week, reopen his popular ice cream saloon. His politeness and desire to please, and the excellence of his ice cream will make his saloon a popular and fashionable resort this summer.
We have about 300 French woven corsets, worth $1.25, that we will close at 50c; they are bargains.

A Double Truth
We have said a good deal lately about the PURITY of our cigarettes and all that we have said about them is equally true of the Long Cut. The Leaf Tobacco from which Blackwell's Durham Long Cut is manufactured, possesses a very desirable feature that no other tobacco can lay claim to, viz: the almost total absence of Nitrates and Nicotine.
Step into your dealers' and ask for a package of Blackwell's Durham Long Cut and see if it isn't just what you have been longing for. Don't be imposed on by imitations. Get the genuine.

When you have a leisure moment drop in, examine our stock, and try on some of our clothing, and see how elegantly our goods are made up, how beautifully they fit.
Special attention of parents is invited to our Boys' and Children's clothing. The same attention has been paid to the make-up and fit as to the Men's.

Written for the Atlanta Constitution.

Experience is a dear school-master, but the schooling sticks to a man mighty close. The other day I read in a farming paper that sheep ought to be sheared early in the spring, and so I hired a nabor to come over and take the wool off of mine, and that night I kept 'em under cover, for it was damp and chilly, and shore enough next day three of 'em laid down and died. One of 'em was named Mary, and Mary had a little lamb, and now we are raising it on the bottle, and it takes all the family to do it, and of course this sad and melancholy misfortune was all my fault, for they said it was too soon to shear sheep and take all their warm clothes off; but I said it wasn't, and had my own way, for there are some things that I am right stubborn about, and so if it goes right it's all right and no remarks, but if it goes wrong, why then I—well, there's no use talking—fact is I would run away if there was anywhere to run to. These poor innocent sheep and that poor little motherless lamb, and the awful consequences and variegated remarks hunt me. Two years ago we tried sheep and the dogs killed 'em all in one night, and last fall we had some more—some fine cotswolds and merinos, and the young lambs were skipping about so merrily and shaking their little tails, and the old ones looked like the pictures you see in the books, but a sheered sheep don't look like anything in the books or out of 'em. Good clothes, decent put on, become anybody, especially sheep. Well, I reckon I'll know when to shear 'em next year. From the neighborhood talk and general remarks about me, it seems that everybody knew but me, and so there is some comfort in finding out there ain't but one fool fit to be a sheepman.

MISERY LOVE COMPANY

A few days ago the old muscovy duck quit her nest after she had been sitting three weeks and last night a mink or a weasel or a snake or an owl or a fox or a possum or some other varmint got in the hen house and killed a setting hen and tried to drag her off but the hen wouldn't go through the crack, and yesterday one of the glass shutters to the power pit fell down, kerslam, and broke most all the lights, and as I haven't been running the ducks nor the chickens nor the sheep, I'm late in posting up the book as a set off to the sheep. I'm bound to get even some way, for misery loves company. They ought to have tied the old duck on her nest and set up all night watching for the crack, and the flower pit ought to have been opened at all. Jesso. After a while it happened anybody can see how it might have been prevented. Nabor Freeman killed a dog yesterday while the dog was killing a sheep, and of course that will make somebody mad for most everybody thinks his dog is better than another man's sheep and that's why we can't have a dog in the house. I have passed for most every member of the legislature has got a dog and very few have sheep. It is wonderful how much a man thinks of his own dog and how little he thinks of other people's dogs. "Love me, love my dog," is an old proverb and a true one. A man will fight for his dog quicker than he will for his horse or his cow, and it is all because the dog loves him and the horse or the cow don't. In old times dogs were not allowed to be sold for the Scriptures say cursed is he who taketh a price for a dog, but I don't reckon that the States that are killing dogs any more than we do, for sheep was their chief dependence.

In the state of Georgia you put a tax of three dollars on a dog and five dollars on his mother, and the money is kept to pay for sheep the dogs kill, and it pays about half their value. The most trouble about sheep is eating the law is that a man may have three or four dogs hanging around his premises, but he won't own 'em. The boys throw 'em a bone of a chunk of bread now and then, but the boys won't own 'em, though they do hunt rabbits with 'em on the sly. Consequently they pay no tax, and it would be too expensive to hire a man to go round and kill 'em, and if he did go he couldn't find 'em. But they say the law is a good one, anyhow, and it is working better every year, for a man gets tired living on the dodge, and it's getting more disreputable to keep vagabond dogs, for the naborers talk about it, and sometimes they turn a feller out of the church for it, and now the people are getting better dogs and taking better care of 'em, and so I reckon we had better try it awhile in Georgia and see how it works. The days are getting mighty long to me. When a man is engaged in digging up stumps or prizing 'em out and putting 'em up on a wagon, he begins to listen for the naborers talk about it, and he gets down on one's knees and cutting the tap root is a very humbling business. I wish we did understand that dynamite and wanton affairs are employed, and I think anyhow if I could get Nabor Freeman to try it first, and he says he would if he belonged to the church. I see in the "Country Gentleman" where a man owned a cow that had a crowbar hole under a hundred stumps in his low grounds and put a cartridge under each one and connected 'em all by a wire and set 'em all at once by a battery, and it blew 'em all up and tore 'em into fragments, and it just rained stumps for ten minutes. I think I would like that. It didn't use to make so much difference about a few scattering stumps in a field, but now the mowers and reapers and cultivator plows they are awfully in the way and they must come out.

I've got a field of corn just peeping out of the ground, which is uncommon early for north Georgia and it may be too early for good health, but I'm betting on it. I want to get ahead of the summer drought. Judge Henderson sent me some maize and Egyptian wheat to experiment with and says that it is recommended as a good substitute for corn and I'm going to plant and cultivate and send it to rail and the some bread and send the Judge a pone and let him try it. That's the way to make progress—keep trying. We made fun of sorghum for a while but it settled down at last as a great thing for a poor man. I wanted to experiment with the genuine sugar cane and see if it wouldn't mature up here with enough stimulant and so I got twenty cans down the country and ordered it shipped by freight, but somehow it came by express and the charge was two dollars and fifteen cents, and I just turned the cane over to the company for even and still they want more. I was wondering if the railroad commissioners had anything to do with express company. I reckon not. And so the children will have to do without sweetener next winter. John Turner raises cane over in Floyd, and I don't see why we can't raise it with fertilizers all over upper Georgia. If we can raise cotton in Pennsylvania, I know we can. I don't think we experiment enough.

Old Isom.

From the Little Rock Gazette.
"Is de Newmited States Jedge at de present in de quarters 'signed him by the general government," asked old Isom yesterday, entering the chambers of the United States judge.
"Yes," replied the judge, "what do you want?"
"I has a little business to fetch before de 'bunals ob de country. I want a pension, sah."

"What for?"
"I wound in de leg."

"When were you wounded?"
"About two months ago."

"Were you in the service of the United States?"
"No, sah."

"Well you can't get a pension."

"But I was shot wid a gubernant gun, sah. I shot myself an' ain't all right yet, so I thought I'd come roun' an hab my name put in de pension pot. Don't see why I ain't 'tilled for pay when I was shot wid a gubernant gun."

"You see," said the judge, "that it is the men who were shot with rebel guns that are entitled to pensions. That is the way with all governments. One government pays for the injuries of another. That is why we have ministers to other countries."

"Ah, yes, I see now. But say, judge, as I sorter has to hang ob de thing, can't yer get me a situation as one ob dem ministers?"
"I can discharge the duties ob a minister, sah. I've already preached in de outskirts ob Little Rock."

"I haven't anything to do with the appointment of ministers," said the judge.
"Yer hain't?" Wall, can't yer give me one ob dem 'ministers' what de government 's'trictly ter de overflooded authors? No? Wall, good day, sah; don't believe that yer's got no 'commodation' bout yer, nobow."

The Good Father.
From the Wall Street Daily News.
"Father," began the innocent child, as he leaned on his father's knee, "you are an awful good man."

"Yes, I hope so, my son."

"You wouldn't cheat anybody out of a cent, would you?"
"Of course I wouldn't, why do you ask?"
"Suppose, father, that you had $10,000 in Walsh preferred which had cost you $80?"

"Yes."

"And they went down to $55?"
"Yes."

"And suppose an old friend from Elmira came here to buy stocks and could be talked into believing that Walsh preferred would touch 75 before September, would you unload on him 60 and rake in his cash?"

"No—ahem—that is—see here, Sylvanus! The next time I have a dear old friend call to see me and you listen at the library door and catch our conversation, you'll get a dividend on curiosity that will last you a lifetime. Tell your mother to put you to bed an hour ahead of time for the next week."

A Mean Man.
From the San Francisco Post.
"Talking about mean men," said the man from Calaveras, "I think the most out-and-out, cantankerous dog-meat errier I ever saw was old Dick Shubine. Why, up on the Feather, in '68, he actually ran away with my first wife, just after I had paid him a loan of $10,000."

"That was a pretty hard blow."

"You bet it was hard. I didn't mind so much about Maria; I was pretty sick of her, anyway. But the gall of the matter was that the note was paid before he 'skipped.' Now if he'd only dusted the day before it came due, I might have agreed to call it square. But no, sir; he was one of those mean cusses that don't want anybody else to have a show. He was a hog, sir, hogs and all."

DOGS AND SHEEP.
In the state of Georgia you put a tax of three dollars on a dog and five dollars on his mother, and the money is kept to pay for sheep the dogs kill, and it pays about half their value. UNSURPASSED Peachtree Street Property.
The Most Desirable Corner Lot in the City, and three other very Valuable Lots.

I WILL SELL ON THE PREMISES, WITH perfect title, on Wednesday, the 5th day of April, next, at 11 o'clock, the most desirable unimproved corner lot in Atlanta, fronting on Peachtree street 79 feet, opposite Colonel Miles's residence, and extending east along the north side of Kimball street 136 feet to the residence lot of H. I. Kimball, then north 100 feet to Captain Forester's lot, then east 200 feet to Peachtree street. It is a splendid grass lawn which has been so much admired for its unsurpassed beauty. It is the highest point on Peachtree street, commanding a splendid view of Stone Mountain and Kennesaw, and all the surrounding country. It is above the sewer pipe, and the gas and water mains and street car line all run in front of it.

Also, two beautiful unimproved lots on the corner of West Peachtree and Kimball streets, each 120x200, facing the city and opposite F. E. Key's new residence.

These three residence lots are unsurpassed for beautiful homes by any in the city. Plans are at my office, sale absolute. Terms cash, or the option of half cash and the remainder in six and twelve months, with 5 per cent interest. Call and obtain a plat, and examine the property.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.:
Gents: I have suffered from Scrofula for about 17 years. The disease being mostly confined to my legs and ankles, my shin bones were covered with LARGE ULCERS AND ONE MASS OF ROTTEN FLESH, AND THE ODOR ALMOST UNBEARABLE. All remedies and treatments which I tried failed to do me any good. When at last I began taking S. S. S., continuing for about four months, I AM CERTAINLY WELL. I took S. S. S. under the supervision of a physician of 26 years active practice, by your order. Previously to taking S. S. S. I at times could scarcely walk about. NOW I CAN WALK ALL DAY, AND I HAVE TO THANK S. S. S. AND IT ONLY FOR MY CURE.

Yours truly,

ATLANTA, March 15, 1882.

SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY—
I feel it a duty I owe to you and offering humanity to add my testimony to the merits of S. S. S. and cheerfully certify to the following facts and would that all who are suffering from that MOST LOATHSOME DISEASE could know what it has accomplished for me:

After suffering from Syphilis for more than a year being treated by several eminent physicians, who all used the usual remedies of the profession—MERCURY, IODIDE OF POTASH, with no perceptible change for the better—confined to my ROOM and bed the greater part of the time—my body covered with copper-colored sores from the size of a pea to that of a silver half dollar—the disease reached what is known as the secondary stage, leaving me well nigh in despair. Finally, I commenced taking S. S. S. under the advice and supervision of a first-class physician. In a short time I began to improve in flesh and all the sores healed and I could feel and know that I was well and to S. S. S. must be the credit of my entire restoration to health. I have not taken a dose for more than six months and am as free from sores or blemish as any one and feel that I have a new lease on life. Respectfully,
LOTTIE ROSS.

The above cases were treated under the supervision of one of our best physicians. If any who are interested will call at LAMAR, RANKIN & LAMAR'S they can learn full particulars.

If you hesitate to take S. S. S. for SCROFULA, CATARRH, ECZEMA or any disease originating from a disordered condition of the Blood, when proof conclusive is given that it thoroughly removes all taint of
